Cuts through dust; cuts through a hard days work. Refreshes, slakes a thirst and the concerns of the day when the day is done. Beer that tastes like beer; With character and a hoppy flavor that does not overwhelm... Not sweet or like a malted drink but beer that smells, looks and tastes like life well lived; Like the fields and the sky and the sun have been brewed into every sip.

In the early 1800's, farmers wore disguises of Calico, a new material imported from India, in their fight to resist a corrupt system of rent for land they worked. They called themselves "The Calico Indians". With Calico Man IPA, Faith American salutes their spirit and their place in the enduring fight for Freedom.

Mornings here, clouds nestle in the hollows till well after sun-up. As it warms, they rise into a blue haze. Some days, volunteer veins of wild blueberry cascade down our mountainside and "blue" things just a bit more. Hence, our Blue Hazy. Brought to you by the Sun, Land, Air, Water... and absolute Splendor of the Catskill Mountains.
